

Millennial Neuroscience

RAISING BRILLIANT, HAPPY & COMPASSIONATE KIDS

Presented by

Louisville
City Schools

UNIVERSITY
MOUNT
UNION

A fast-paced and interactive workshop is for anyone who was a child, has a child or works with a child!

Participants will learn the latest research about the differences between the young brain and the mature brain and effective strategies for helping ALL children, ages 1-25, develop the critical thinking, stress management, communication and relationship skills they need for 21st Century success.

Date: Thursday, January 11, 2018

Location: Brush Hall, UMU Campus

Time: 6 -7:30 pm

Presented by: Julie Adams

Julie Adams is a Nationally Board Certified Educator of the Year, who has taught multiple content areas from kindergarten through graduate school. She is an internationally respected and highly sought after consultant who has trained over 100,000 educators and parents worldwide in neuroscience, critical thinking, literacy, communication, and writing strategies.

Check out her website and blog for more information:
effectiveteachingpd.com

We look forward to seeing you there!

Free childcare provided